

Seven Reasons to Join

7.

A network with values, not ads

Kamooni is pro-social, non-exploitative, open-source and built for the common good. Our customers are not advertisers, and therefore, we do not need to manipulate you or mine and sell your data while keeping you glued to the screen for as long as possible. Quite the opposite. We want you to connect with others and make change happen.

6.

All profits are returned to the community

Kamooni may be a non-profit enterprise, but our goal is to generate funds and reinvest them into the communities of our members. We do this through something we call the Altruistic Wallet, which allows members to allocate their share of any dividends into the projects they wish to support.

5.

Turn your vision into action

Kamooni has a built-in system for teams and individuals to create goals, allocate tasks and track results. Kamooni also provides ways to request funding, volunteers, advice and resources to further support your mission.

4.

Mapping the world as it is

Kamooni has a map-based interface that allows you to search both locally and globally for projects to contribute to and people to connect with. This interface also creates an entirely different type of search behaviour, not so much doom-scrolling as opportunity-rolling.

3.

Building identity by building trust

Kamooni is a community of character, not credentials. What counts is what you do, not what you signal. Any tasks you complete or contributions you make are stored with your profile, which allows you to build a verifiable reputation. Sort of like a passport for the global village that says something about who you are.

2.

100% Oligarch-free

Either we use their networks and continue to give away our agency, privacy, freedom, resources and peace of mind, or we start building our own tools that work for us, not against us, and fund the world we want. Kamooni does the latter. As a member, you get to decide how Kamooni works.

1.

Matchmaking for Changemakers

Ultimately, Kamooni is all about finding the others, to know that we are not alone. The others who also believe that things could be different, that things could be better. Not just for us as individuals, but for all of us. Because we are not alone. We just don't realise yet how many we are and how much we have in common. And once we've found each other, there is no limit to what we can achieve.

Find out more at kamooni.org